Published by Authority.

From Tuesday July 30, to Saturday August 3, 1782.

AT the Court at St. James's, the 31ſt of July, 1782,

PRESENT,

The KING's Moſt Excellent Majeſty in Council.

THIS Day the Right Honourable George Earl Temple, and the Right Honourable Henry Dundaſs, Treaſurer of His Majeſty's Navy, were, by His Majeſty's Command, ſworn of His Majeſty's Moſt Honourable Privy Council, and took their Places at the Board accordingly.

His Majeſty in Council was this Day pleaſed to declare the Right Honourable George Earl Temple, Lieutenant General and General Governor of His Majeſty's Kingdom of Ireland.

Whitehall, Auguſt 3.

The King has been pleaſed to order a Congé d'Elire to the Dean and Chapter of the Cathedral Church of Saliſbury, for electing a Biſhop of that See, the ſame being vacant by the Death of the Right Reverend Doctor John Hume, late Biſhop thereof; and alſo a Letter recommending to the ſaid Dean and Chapter the Right Reverend Father in God Doctor Shute Barrington, now Biſhop of Landaff, to be by them elected Biſhop of the ſaid See of Saliſbury.

The King has been pleaſed to grant to the Reverend Thomas Jackſon, Maſter of Arts, and one of His Majeſty's Chaplains in ordinary, the Place and Dignity of a Caronry or Prebend of the Collegiate Church of St. Peter, Weſtminſter, void by the Death of the Reverend Doctor John Blair.

The King has been pleaſed to grant the Dignity of a Baronet of the Kingdom of Great Britain, to Charles Kent, of Fornham St. Genevieve, in the County of Suffolk, Eſq; and the Heirs Male of his Body lawfully begotten.

Whitehall, Auguſt 3.

THE following Addreſſes having been tranſmitted to the Office of His Majeſty's Principal Secretary of State for the Home Department, have been preſented to the King: Which Addreſſes His Majeſty was pleaſed to receive very graciouſly.

The humble Addreſs of the Volunteers of the Province of Connaught, repreſented at a General Meeting held, purſuant to Publick Notice, at Ballinaſloe, on Saturday the 6th Day of July, 1782.

To the KING's Moſt Excellent Majeſty.

Moſt Gracious Sovereign,

WE, your Majeſty's loyal Subjects, the Volunteers of the Province of Connaught, impreſſed with the moſt unfeigned Affection and Attachment to your Perſon and Government, humbly beg Leave to offer to your Majeſty the ſincere Tribute of our Gratitude, for your benign and Parental Interpoſition to remove the Cauſes of thoſe Diſcontents, which had agitated the Minds of your Majeſty's Iriſh Subjects; an Interpoſition which has been happily crowned with Succeſs, and which, by placing the Connection between this Kingdom and Great Britain on its Original Baſis, equal Conſtitution and equal Liberty have, we truſt, rendered it for ever indiſſoluble.

The People and Parliament of Ireland, conſcious that their Claims were founded on the immutable Rights of Mankind, and denying with one Voice any Authority whatſoever in the Britiſh Legiſlature over this Kingdom, called upon its Juſtice to repeal the Statute of the 6th of George I. as it advanced Claims hoſtile to the Rights of Ireland. The Magnanimity of Britain, riſing ſuperior to the Prejudices of a miſtaken Policy, has complied with our Requiſitions, and has, by the Repeal of that Statute, annihilated every Claim of Britiſh Legiſlation and Juriſdiction, either internal or external, over this Kingdom for ever: As ſuch we accept it, and as ſuch we hold it to be ſatisfactory.

Our Siſter Kingdom has met us with the avowed Purpoſe of eſtabliſhing a ſolid, permanent Baſis of Friendſhip and Connection, and knows that it is ſolid not nominal, permanent not temporary Freedom, can alone conſtitute ſuch a Baſis. We know ſhe is too wiſe and too noble to act upon the little Policy of temporary Deception; and that, if we could be miſtaken in this our Opinion, your Majeſty, the Common Father of both Kingdoms, would undeceive us. Relying therefore on the Faith of Nations, that a Claim ſo ſolemnly relinquiſhed can never be revived, (a Revival which would ſever the Two Countries for ever) and convinced that no Laws between diſtinct Kingdoms can bind, if that Faith cannot, we beg Leave to aſſure your Majeſty that all our Jealouſies are at an End; and that, united with our Britiſh Fellow-Subjects under the Banners of Liberty, we ſhall, with One Heart, call forth all the Reſources of our Country againſt the Common Enemies of the Empire, and evince to your Majeſty and to our Siſter Kingdom, that the voluntary Exertions of Freemen are ſuperior to all the Coercion of Power: Deprived of her Liberty, we were but Captives to adorn her Triumphs; Sharers in her Conſtitution, we become the willing Companions of her Danger, and the Participators of her Glory.

Permit us, Sir, to return our humble and grateful Acknowledgements to your Majeſty, for your having been graciouſly pleaſed to commit the Adminiſtration of Public Affairs to Men, whoſe Attachment to the Principles of General Liberty, and whoſe avowed Zeal to give Efficacy to your Majeſty's noble Intention of diminiſhing undue Influence, and eſtabliſhing Public Œconomy, have juſtly won them the Confidence of the People. To waſte the Treaſure and ſtifle the Senſe of the Nation, by corrupting the Parliament, had long become a Syſtem among among Miniſters, but a new Æra dawns upon us; and ſhould the Extermination of Corruption, united with a more equal Repreſentation of the People, crown the Bleſſings received under your Majeſty's Reign, it will be the moſt ſplendid that ever adorned the Annals of this Country; an Emulation of independent Support will then preclude the alledged Neceſſity of undue Influence; your Miniſters, compoſed of tried Friends of the Public, will ſtand unſhaken by Oppoſition, while they remain uncontaminated by Corruption; and your Majeſty, enthroned in our Hearts, and ſurrounded with Acclamations, will receive the unbounded Effuſions of the Gratitude of a free, affectionate and loyal People. Signed by Order,

Dennis Kelly, Chairman.

At a Meeting of the High Sheriff and Inhabitants of the County of Wicklow, July 16, 1782, purſuant to publick Notice, Hopton Scott, Eſq; High Sheriff, in the Chair.

The following Addreſs was unanimouſly agreed to.

To the KING's Moſt Excellent Majeſty,

The humble Addreſs of the High Sheriff and Inhabitants of the County of Wicklow.

ACCEPT, moſt gracious Sovereign, the Aſſurances of the warmeſt Attachment to your Majeſty's Royal Perſon and Family, from your dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Inhabitants of the County of Wicklow; and permit us to expreſs our moſt grateful Acknowledgements for your Majeſty's parental Regard to this Kingdom, already manifeſted by the gracious Expreſſion of your wiſhes to the Britiſh Parliament to remove the Grievances of your faithful Subjects of Ireland; who, on the Emancipation from thoſe Reſtrictions, which this Kingdom has laboured under, will conſider themſelves bound to ſupport your Majeſty's Crown and Dignity with their Lives and Fortunes.

Hopton Scott, Chairman.

Dublin Caſtle, July 27.

THIS Day his Grace the Lord Lieutenant went in State to the Houſe of Peers with the uſual Solemnity; and, the Commons being ſent for, gave the Royal Aſſent to the following Bills:

An Act for enforcing the due Execution of the Laws now in being, and for the better regulating the Public Gaols and Priſons in this Kingdom, and providing neceſſary Accommodations for the Perſons confined therein; and for the more effectual Adminiſtration of Juſtice at Seſſions and by Juſtices of the Peace, in Cities and Counties of Cities within this Kingdom.

An Act for the Relief of Inſolvent Perſons under a certain Deſcription.

An Act to amend an Act, intitled, An Act for remitting of Priſoners, with their Indictments by the Juſtices of His Majeſty's Court of King's Bench, to the Places where the Crimes were committed.

An Act to oblige Church-Wardens to account, purſuant to an Act for the better keeping Churches in Repair; and to make the Cathedral Church of Ferns the Pariſh Church of the Pariſh of Ferns.

An Act for paving and repairing the Streets, Squares, Lanes, Quays, and other Places, in the City and County of the City of Dublin, and Liberties thereof; and for preventing and removing Obſtructions, Nuiſances and Annoyances, within the ſame; and for other Purpoſes therein mentioned.

An Act for Relief of His Majeſty's Proteſtant Diſſenting Subjects called Seceders.

And to Four Private Bills.

After which his Grace made the following Speech to both Houſes of Parliament.

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

THE great and conſtitutional Advantages you have ſecured to your Country, and the wiſe and magnanimous Conduct of Great Britain in contributing to the Succeſs of your ſteady and temperate Exertions, call for my Congratulations on the the Close of a Session, which must ever reflect the highest Honor on the National Character of both Kingdoms.

It must be a most pleasing Consideration to you to recollect, that in the Advances you made towards the Settlement of your Constitution, no Acts of Violence or Impatience have marked their Progress. A religious Adherence to the Laws confined your Endeavours within the strictest Bounds of Loyalty and Good Order. Your Claims were directed by the same Spirit that gave Rise and Stability to the Liberties of Great Britain, and could not fail of Success, as soon as the Councils of that Kingdom were influenced by the avowed Friends of the Constitution.

Such a Spirit of Constitutional Liberty, communicating itself from one Kingdom to the other, must naturally produce that reciprocal Confidence and mutual Affection, of which we already begin to feel the most salutary Effects. A grateful Zeal and generous Ardor have united this whole Kingdom in the most cordial and vigorous Exertions, which promise effectually to frustrate the Designs of our Common Enemy, and to re-establish and secure the Glory of the whole Empire.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

When I consider the very active and liberal Part you have taken in contributing to these great and glorious Events, I must as distinctly express to you His Majesty's Sense of the last Effusion of your Generosity for the Defence of the Empire, as I must return you His gracious Thanks for the Supplies which you so chearfully voted at the Beginning of this Session. His Majesty's Royal Example not only secures to you a most just and œconomical Application of the Aids you have granted Him, but affords you a most solemn Pledge of attentive Investigation into every Means which the Circumstances of this Country will afford, to alleviate the Burdens of His loyal and grateful People. To co-operate with you in carrying into Effect this most benevolent Disposition of His Majesty will afford me the highest Gratification, and manifest to you the Sentiments I shall ever entertain, in Return for the Confidence you have reposed in the Sincerity of my Professions for your Welfare.

My Lords, and Gentlemen,

In contemplating the Services which your unremitting Assiduity has rendered to the Public, I must indulge myself in the Satisfaction of specifying some very important Acts, which will most materially strengthen the great Constitutional Reform you have compleated, and which will for ever distinguish the Period of this memorable Session. You have provided for the impartial and unbiassed Administration of Justice, by the Act for securing the Independency of Judges; you have adopted one of the most effectual Securities of British Freedom, by limiting the Mutiny Act in Point of Duration; you have secured that most invaluable of all human Blessings, the personal Liberty of the Subject, by passing the Habeas Corpus Act; you have cherished and enlarged the wise Principles of Toleration, and made considerable Advances in abolishing those Distinctions which have too long impeded the Progress of Industry, and divided the Nation. The Diligence and Ardour, with which you have persevered in the Accomplishment of these great Objects, must ever bear the most honourable Testimony to your Zeal and Industry in the Service of your Country, and manifest your Knowledge in its true Interests.

Many and great National Objects must present themselves to your Consideration, during the Recess from Parliamentary Business; but what I would most earnestly press upon you, as that on which your domestic Peace and Happiness, and the Prosperity of the Empire, at this Moment most immediately depend, is to cultivate and diffuse those Sentiments of Affection and Confidence, which are now happily restored between the Two Kingdoms: Convince the People in your several Districts, as you are yourselves convinced, that every Cause of past Jealousies and Discontents is finally removed, that both Countries have pledged their good Faith to each other, and that their best Security will be an inviolable Adherence to that Compact; that the implicit Reliance which Great Britain has reposed on the Honor, Generosity and Candor of Ireland, engages your National Character to a Return of Sentiments equally liberal and enlarged; convince them, that the Two Kingdoms are now One, indissolubly connected in Unity of Constitution, and Unity of Interests; that the Danger and Security, the Prosperity and Calamity, of the One, must equally affect the other; that they stand and fall together.

To his Grace William Henry Cavendish, Duke of Portland, Lord Lieutenant General and General Governor of Ireland,

The humble Address of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, in Parliament assembled.

May it please your Grace,

WE, His Majesty's most dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, in Parliament assembled, beg Leave to congratulate your Grace on the approaching Conclusion of a Session of Parliament, which has not been more beneficial to this Country than honourable to your Grace.

At the Close of this Session we shall have seen, under your Grace's Administration, the Judges rendered independent of the Crown in Point of Tenure; the Law for the Punishment of Mutiny and Desertion abridged in Duration, and become a Security and Vindication of the Constitution; the Jurisdiction of the hereditary Judges of the Land restored; the unconstitutional Mode of passing Laws, which was heretofore exercised in this Country, reformed; and the sole and exclusive Right of Legislation, external as well as internal, in the Irish Parliament, firmly asserted on the Part of Ireland, and unequivocally acknowledged on the Part of Great Britain.

We have seen this great National Arrangement established on a Basis which secures the Tranquillity of Ireland, and unites the Affections as well as Interests of both Kingdoms: And when we consider how long we had been labouring for these great and important Objects, and that they have been accomplished in the short Period of your Grace's Administration, we should be wanting in Justice to your Grace if we did not acknowledge your Virtue.

Your Grace will have the consummate Satisfaction of reflecting that the Name of Portland will remain engraven on our Hearts; and that whenever your Grace shall withdraw from the Administration of the Affairs of this Country, you will be pursued by the manly and dignified Gratitude of a Free People, restored to Liberty by their own great Exertions, rendered effectual under your Grace's auspicious Government, and by your Assistance.

We might enlarge on your Grace's eminent Integrity, on your faithful Representations, and your hereditary Constitutional Principles. We have felt their Effects, and leave it to History to do you Justice.

Wm. Watts Gayer,
Edw. Gayer, } Cler. Parliament.

To

His Grace's Anſwer.

My Lords,

I RETURN you my ſincere Thanks for this very kind and affectionate Addreſs. The moſt earneſt Deſire of my Heart, and the great Object of my Adminiſtration, was to eſtabliſh the Conſtitution of Ireland on ſuch a Baſis as might ſecure her Tranquillity and Happineſs, and unite her in Affections as well as in Intereſts with Great Britain. I was ever perſuaded that your Claims to a Participation of Freedom with England were at once founded in Juſtice, and merited by your Character, and the Spirit you diſplayed: It muſt, therefore, afford me the moſt ſolid Pleaſure to learn that you conſider thoſe Claims as now finally eſtabliſhed, and thoſe great Objects as permanently ſecured.

There could be but one Thing wanting to complete my Satisfaction, and this you have contributed by accepting, with the Feelings you expreſs, my perſonal Endeavours to procure the ineſtimable Benefits you have enumerated, and by conſidering me as having been inſtrumental in the Accompliſhment of your Deſire.

The Gratitude of a Free People for acknowledged Benefits cannot Leave a Wiſh of virtuous Ambition unſatisfied: I feel the Value of it as I ought. In every Situation of my Life I ſhall hold myſelf bound, by every Tie of Principle and Affection, to promote the Intereſt and Happineſs of His Majeſty's Subjects of this Kingdom.

To his Grace William Henry Cavendiſh, Duke of Portland, Lord Lieutenant General and General Governor of Ireland,

The humble Addreſs of the Knights, Citizens and Burgeſſes, in Parliament aſſembled.

May it pleaſe your Grace,

WE, His Majeſty's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Commons of Ireland in Parliament aſſembled, beg Leave at the Concluſion of a Seſſion, which hath not been more beneficial to this Country than honourable to your Grace, to approach your Grace with the moſt unfeigned Expreſſions of Satisfaction.

At the Cloſe of this Seſſion we ſhall have ſeen, under your Grace's Adminiſtration, the Judges rendered independent of the Crown, the Law for the Puniſhment of Mutiny and Deſertion abridged in Duration, and ſo altered as to become a Vindication of the Conſtitution; the Juriſdiction of the hereditary Judges of the Land reſtored; the vicious Mode of paſſing Laws, which was heretofore exerciſed in this Country, reformed; and the ſole and excluſive Right of Legiſlation external as well as internal in the Iriſh Parliament firmly aſſerted on the Part of Ireland, and unequivocally acknowledged on the Part of Great Britain.

We ſhall have ſeen this great national Arrangement eſtabliſhed on a Baſis which ſecures the Tranquility of Ireland, and unites the Affections as well as Intereſts of both Kingdoms; when we conſider how long we had been labouring for theſe great and important Objects, and that they have been accompliſhed in the ſhort Period of your Grace's Adminiſtration, we ſhould be wanting in Juſtice to your Grace if we did not acknowledge your Virtue.

Your Grace will have the conſummate Satisfaction of reflecting that the Name of Bentinck will remain engraven on our Hearts; and that whenever your Grace ſhall withdraw from the Adminiſtration of the Affairs of this Country, an Event we ſhall moſt ſincerely lament, you will be attended (not by the forced and jaded Benedictions of an oppreſſed Province, but) by the manly and dignified Love of a free People, reſtored to Liberty by their own great Exertions, rendered effectual under your auſpicious Government, and by your powerful Aſſiſtance.

We might enlarge on your eminent Integrity, your faithful Repreſentations, your Conſtitutional Lineage, and your hereditary Principles. We have felt their Effects, and leave it to Hiſtory to do you Juſtice.

Tho. Ellis, Cler. Parl. Dom. Com.

His Grace's Anſwer.

Gentlemen of the Houſe of Commons,

I Receive this affectionate Addreſs with the moſt ſincere Satisfaction. Attached by Education and Habit to the Principles of the Engliſh Conſtitution, and ſenſible that the Benefits of it ought to be extended to this Kingdom, it gives me a particular Pleaſure to have been in any Degree inſtrumental in reſtoring it to that Situation in which it has long deſerved to be placed.

To ſettle the Conſtitution of Ireland upon a ſecure Foundation, and to unite its Intereſts and Affections with thoſe of Great Britain, were the principal Objects of my Adminiſtration; and I am happy to learn that you conſider thoſe Objects as accompliſhed.

Your Approbation has gratified every Ambition of my Heart; and I ſhould ill deſerve your Acknowledgements if I did not feel the Value of the Gratitude of a free People, and in every Situation of Life conſider myſelf as bound to promote the Intereſt and Happineſs of His Majeſty's Subjects of this Kingdom.
